

So You Want to Create a Climate Career Pathway?

Learn how the state's new Golden State Pathways Program can help you build climate career pathways in your schools and districts.

In this hour-long webinar, you'll learn what promise the state's new Golden State Pathways Program (GSPP) has for districts and schools interested in creating and expanding climate career pathways. The state has declared climate pathways as one of the priority areas in the GSPP RFA.

But what is a climate pathway? What are the specific features of a this funding that might help your LEA launch a climate pathway, no matter where you're starting from? How can you leverage your LEA's previous work in CTE or in sustainability? And who can help you navigate all the pieces of the process?

In this webinar, we'll help you think through answers to these questions, giving you a solid starting place for using GSPP to build robust and engaging climate pathways for your diverse learners. You will come away with a deeper understanding of the GSPP, as well as next steps you can take.
